PRESIDENT KINSEY OF B. P. I. ADMITS REBER IS THE BETTER APPROACH

Official, Whose Approval of A. & M. Supported Bridge Obstructionists, Says City's Route Is O K—Council Majority Firm Against A. & M. Grab, Democratic Committee-men Say Bond Issue Would Carry.

President Kinsey of the Board of Public Improvements, in an interview with a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday, admitted that from an engineering standpoint the Reber free bridge approach was better than the proposed Alton & Mississippi approach.

Members of the House of Delegates, in supporting and defending their advocacy of the $4,200,000 Alton & Mississippi grab, have heretofore used the argument that it was recommended by President Kinsey.

The interview with President Kinsey was sought to ascertain what objections he had to the Reber approach, as an engineering proposition, especially in view of the fact that the land for this approach has been bought and paid for, and that it could be constructed for $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 cheaper than the Alton & Mississippi approach.

President Kinsey said, in the beginning of the interview, that he wished to have it clearly stated that the matter of policy entered into the question of fixing the location of the bridge approach were to be determined solely by the Municipal Assembly, and that it would be his duty, after those matters had been determined, to build the approach in accordance with the Assembly's directions. While he had personal views on the subject of the bridge approach, he said, he wished to lay aside his own views for the purpose of having the bridge completed quickly.

Says Belt Line Is Desirable. The only factor that made the $4,200,000 Alton & Mississippi approach more desirable, in his estimation, than the Reber approach, he said, was the proposed 20-mile belt line extending across the Cahokia bottoms and over the bluffs between East St. Louis and Belleville to the Madison County line.

Without this belt line either owned by the city, or controlled by the city under conditions equivalent to ownership, President Kinsey declared that he regarded the Reber approach as better than the Alton & Mississippi approach. It is understood at the City Hall that the joint conference committee of the Council and House of Delegates will propose the construction of the Alton & Mississippi approach, without the proposed belt line. An approach of this kind, President Kinsey declared, would be inferior to the Reber approach.

"In a report to the Municipal Assembly, June 27, 1912, I recommended the Alton & Mississippi approach on the condition that a belt line connecting with the approach and extending across the Cahokia bottoms and over the bluffs was necessary, that its construction must be assured, and that its operation must be free and as completely under the control of the city as the bridge itself," said President Kinsey.

"Without that belt line, either owned by the city, or controlled by the city, I regard the Reber approach as better than the Alton & Mississippi.

"Master of Policy." "I have regarded the location of the bridge approach not altogether as an engineering proposition, but as a matter of policy. The question of grade crossings and of connections with the Terminal Railroad Association's lines, are matters of policy that I thought should be considered.

"But, eliminating these questions of policy, and considering the two proposed approaches from strictly an engineering standpoint, the Reber approach is the better.

"The chief advantage to be derived from this A. & M. belt line would be that traffic might reach the bridge over the A. & M. approach without passing over any grade crossings in East St. Louis, and that it would enable some of the railroad lines, if they used it, to get into Union Station in from 15 to 25 minutes less time than under their existing schedules.

President Kinsey was asked if he meant, by this statement, to say that traffic could get to the bridge from 15 to 25 minutes less time over the A. & M. approach than over the Reber approach. He said that he did not, but said he feared grade crossings might be encountered beyond the termination of the Reber approach that might interfere with traffic.

The attention of President Kinsey was directed to the fact that members of the House of Delegates had been giving as one of the reasons for their support of the Alton & Mississippi scheme that it had been recommended by him.

"I presume," he said, "that the Post-Dispatch wishes now to shift the blame for the bridge delay on the President of the Board of Public Improvements."

"The attention was also directed to

INNOCENT MAN IN JAIL FIVE MONTHS ORDERED RELEASED

Judge Hennings Gives Man Employed in West-End Homes His Liberty.

ARREST CLEARS UP, CASE

Prisoner Admits He Hired W. P. Evans for a Quarter to Cash Worthless Check.

William P. Evans, 40 years old, a houseman employed in West End homes, was ordered released from the city jail Tuesday, after having been in jail five months, charged with forgery, of which he was innocent.

His release was ordered by Circuit Judge Hennings, on the recommendation of Assistant Circuit Attorney Baer.

Evans, a grocer, of 5644 Page boulevard, received a telephone call Sept. 9 from a person who represented himself as one of his best customers. The man told him he was sending over a check for $15, which he wished cashed.

A few minutes later Evans appeared with the check. The check was cashed. It proved to be spurious, and Evans was arrested. Evans protested he cashed the check for a stranger, and received 35 cents for carrying the check to the store and returning with the money. He was arrested and a warrant was issued against him, but has been continued.

Charles Hentz, a grocer of 1537 O'Fallon street, Monday brought about the arrest of a man who gave his name as Fred Bressler, 32 years old, and said he lived in East St. Louis. Hentz, like Evans, received a telephone call from a "customer," but in this instance the man who telephoned appeared to cash the check. Hentz called in two detectives and Bressler was arrested.

Bressler admitted the check he presented to Hentz for $15 was worthless, and then confessed that it was he who hired Evans for a quarter to cash the check at Hentz's store.

AEROPLANES COLLIDE IN MIDAIR; 1 DEAD, 2 HURT

Flying School Pupil Crashes Into Army Lieutenant's Machine at Johannisthal.

By Associated Press. JOHANNISTHAL, Germany, Feb. 10.—A midair collision between a biplane and a monoplane over the aerodrome here today caused the death of one German aviator and serious injury to two others.

Gerhard Sedlmayer, an experienced aviator, was flying his biplane, carrying as his passenger Lieut. Leonhard of the German army. They were circling the aerodrome at a height of about 100 feet when a monoplane in which Degner, a pupil at the flying school, was making his first independent flight, crashed into their machine.

Both machines fell and when the men were extricated from the wreckage it was found that Degner was dead and the other two gravely hurt.

Aviator Killed in Fall, Set a Record. SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 10.—Lieut. Henry B. Post of the first aer corps, who plunged 500 feet to his death in San Diego Bay, yesterday, when the right wing of his hydroaeroplane crumpled, died after establishing an American altitude record of 12,139 feet for hydroaeroplanes, the barograph showing this figure when recovered from the wreckage.

WOMAN LEAPS OFF 15-STORY BUILDING IN KANSAS CITY

Body, Which Is Found in Alley Is Not Identified—Shoppers Near By.

By Associated Press. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 10.—While hundreds of shoppers passed in the street, a fashionably dressed woman about 30 years old, leaped from the roof of the R. A. Long building, a 15-story structure in the downtown retail district here today, and was dashed to death on the cobblestones of the alley in the rear of the building.

Persons in an office in a neighboring building saw the woman climb to the parapet, pause a moment, clasp her hands and dive head first as she might have plunged into a swimming pool.

A canvass of the offices in the building failed to disclose the woman's identity. The initials "E. S." embroidered on her handkerchief furnished the only immediate clue. The elevator man who conveyed the woman to the roof said he saw nothing in her appearance or manner to suggest that she was any other than one of the numerous sightseers he takes to the roof every day.

So carefully did the woman choose the point from which to leap few persons passing in the street knew of the suicide until after the body had been taken away.

The woman wore patent leather shoes that had been purchased in Atlanta, Ga. Her coat, which bore the label of a Paris maker, was sold in Cincinnati. She was comely, had brown hair and was of medium height. Several bank notes of small denomination were found in her glove.

TWO EX-CONVICTS SLAIN IN GANG WAR IN DIVISION STREET CLUB

John (Pudgy) Burns, Recently Freed, Found Shot Four Times and Peter White Once.

MEN EVIDENTLY HAD BEEN DEAD FOR SEVERAL HOURS

Burns Was Sentenced for His Part in Robbery of Gypsy King of $10,000, and White Served Seven Years on His Plea of Guilty of Killing a Man.

Peter White, 35 years old, and John Burns, 24 years old, ex-convicts, were found dead at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday in the Friendly Ten clubroom, 1816 Division street. Burns had been shot four times through the body. White had been shot once through the head. The police believe the men are victims of gang vengeance. Six members of the club were rounded up by the police and held for investigation.

Burns was released from the penitentiary at Jefferson City Jan. 18, last, after serving a term for complicity in the robbery of Meliah Vlido, a gypsy, from whom $10,000 in gold was taken in 1912. He confessed and implicated others. White pleaded guilty of killing James Nolan in Timothy McAuliffe's saloon in self-defense at Thirteenth street and Cass avenue several years ago.

Shots were heard about 5:30 p. m. Monday by persons living next door. The men had been dead several hours when their bodies were found.

A window pane was shattered by one of the bullets. No weapon was found in the room. A revolver wrapped in a handkerchief was found lying on the sill of the cellar window at the east side of the house. Two cartridges had been snapped, but had not exploded.

The first information of the crime came to the police from Lawrence (Pucker) White, a younger brother of Peter White. He told Policeman Fiere of the Carr street district at 9 o'clock that as he was walking down Franklin avenue he had overheard someone say that there had been a scrap at the Friendly Ten Club and that two men were dead over there.

Later, Lawrence White told the police that he was in a saloon on Franklin avenue near Tenth street when he was told that there had been a fight at the Friendly Ten Club and that his brother was in it. He would not admit that he knew who had told him. He went to the club, he said, and saw the two men lying on the floor apparently dead. Two policemen, Fiere and another, went to the clubroom. Lizzie Hancock and William Collins, living at 1818 Division street, next door to the clubhouse, had notified the police at 11 o'clock Monday night at the clubroom and thought something was wrong there, and Sergt. William Caudle also had gone there.

Front Door Wasn't Locked. They found the front door of the one-story, two-room clubhouse closed, but not locked. They pushed the door open and found the two men lying dead on the floor.

Burns was found lying on his back close to the east window. He had been shot four times. The shot that caused his death, in the opinion of Dr. Daniel G. Hochdoerfer, Coroner's Physician, who examined the bodies after they had been taken to the morgue, was in the center of the chest. There was a second wound at the right side of the chest. The other two wounds were about two inches lower.

White was lying face downward, with his arms clasped about Burns' legs below the knees. He had been shot behind the left ear at a point on a level with it and about an inch and a half behind it. There was a puncture under the left eye, indicating that the bullet might have emerged at that point.

The room, containing an old piano and a few chairs and a table, did not bear evidence of a struggle.

None of the bullets fired into Burns' body had passed through. The bullet that had passed through White's head was not found.

In the back room there was nothing but an inverted barrel, on which were three bottles of whiskey, one partly emptied.

A bullet had been fired through a pane of the east window, beneath which the bodies lay. The police, after examining the pane, concluded that the bullet

White's home was at 223 O'Fallon street. Burns, since his release from the penitentiary, had been living with his sister, Mrs. Cunningham, on Wall avenue.

Burns Was Sentenced for Gypsy Robbery, White for Killing Man. Burns was taken to the police station by John T. (Pudgy) Burns. He was released from the Missouri Penitentiary

MAKES YOUR BACKACHE
QUICKLY DISAPPEAR!

A Few Drops Relieves All Such Miseries. Bladder Ailments, Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism Promptly Vanish.

It is no longer necessary for anyone to suffer with backache, kidney trouble, have disagreeable bladder disorders to contend with, or be tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and its heart-wrenching pains, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely relieves all such troubles.

Croxone is the most wonderful remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. It acts on the principle of cleaning out the poisons and removing the cause.

It works right in through the walls, membranes and linings, like water in a sponge, neutralizes, dissolves, and makes the kidneys sift out and filter away all the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys clear, strong, healthy and active. It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what you have used, the very principle of Croxone is such that it is practically impossible to take it to the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it.

If you suffer with pains in your back and sides, or have any signs of kidney, bladder troubles, or rheumatism, such as puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles; if you are nervous, tired, and run down, Croxone will quickly relieve you of your misery. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.—ADV.

MR. Samuel McKinley, 1519 Grand Ave., Kansas City, Mo., writes: "I can honestly say that I owe my life to Pe-ru-na. Traveling from town to town, and having to go into all kinds of badly heated buildings, plying my trade as a peddler, it is only natural that I had cold frequently."

"Last December I contracted a severe cold which, through neglect on my part, settled on my chest. I had a cough and a fever, and I was unable to do my work. I tried many remedies, but nothing seemed to help. I then tried Pe-ru-na, and I was cured. I can now praise it too highly."

Those who prefer tablets to liquid medicines can now procure Pe-ru-na in tablet form.

THIEVES RETURN
PART OF LOOT,
THREATEN FAMILY

John H. Holmes Warned to End Search for Men Who Robbed Home.

RECEIVES THREE LETTERS

Phone Used to Tell Where $600 of $1000 Stolen Jewelry Could Be Found.

The family of John H. Holmes, 3237 Maple avenue, has received three anonymous notes and one phone message since the house was robbed of $1000 worth of jewelry on Jan. 14, threatening them with violence unless they stop their efforts to capture the thieves.

Two bedrooms, valued at $300 each, one a garnet studded necklace belonging to Mrs. Holmes, and the other a lavalliere, the property of Miss Ella Pabst, who resides with the Holmes family, were found in dressers in the residence after a phone message told where to look for them.

A man on the other end of the line threatened violence unless the family cease efforts to capture the thieves. He also threatened to steal other jewelry if further steps were taken toward apprehending the thieves.

Mrs. Holmes answered the phone last Friday, when the mysterious call was received. The party at the other end of the wire said:

"You will get your head blown off if you don't stop trying to catch us. We have a key to your house. We were in there last Saturday, sampled your baked apples, and they were fine."

Detectives are seeking to determine whether the thieves re-entered the house and restored the jewelry, or else hid them there when they robbed the home.

Holmes, who is Superintendent of the Missouri Humane Society, is inclined to think that the letters were written by someone in the household who has gained and who wishes to worry him.

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—The excessive speed of the automobiles in which members of the Imperial family are driven in Berlin and its suburbs and the great danger to pedestrians caused thereby were the subject of complaint during a debate on traffic accidents which was held in the Prussian Diet today.

A demand was made that the police enforce the city speed regulations without discrimination in favor of the Emperor's sons, who it was stated were frequent offenders. The daughter-in-law of the Emperor also was occasionally involved in breaches of the regulations, it was stated.

One of the deputies said it was common knowledge a year or two ago that the Emperor had threatened to deprive of his automobile the next offender among the members of the Imperial family.

M'CARTHY LEADER IN HOLDING OUT FOR A. & M. GRAB

His Ward in August, 1912, Cast
1226 Votes For and 509
Against Reber Plan.

The Post-Dispatch will print from day to day maps of the city's 28 wards that voters all over town may know who their respective Delegates are and whether their views on the free bridge question are represented or misrepresented in the House.

The Sixteenth Ward member of the House of Delegates is John R. McCarthy. He is a lawyer with offices in the Times Building. McCarthy is not only one of the 23 obstructionists holding out for the Alton & Mississippi Free Bridge approach grab, but with James J. Gallagher, the member from the Fourth Ward, is looked upon as one of the real leaders on the floor responsible for the most determined opposition to the submission of the Hines bill providing for a bond issue to build the Reber approach.

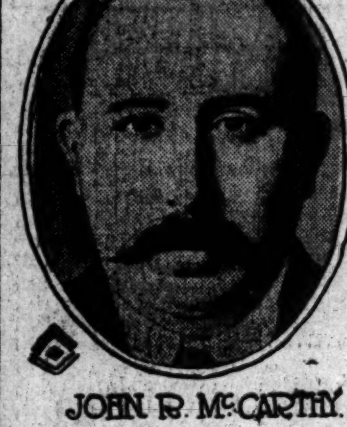

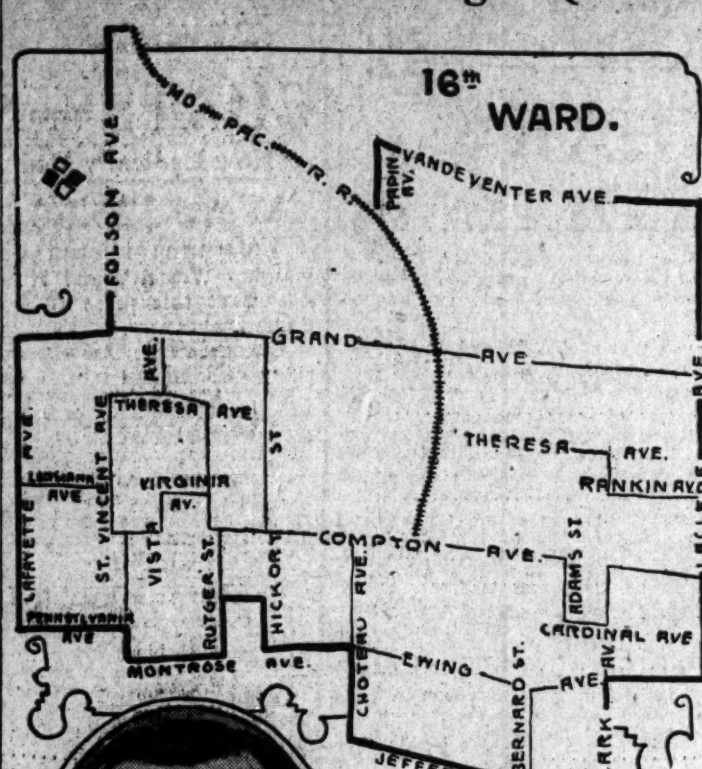

McCarthy's attitude becomes more inexplicable to his constituents when they recall that at the special election in August, 1912, the voters of the sixteenth ward cast 1226 ballots for the bond issue providing for the Reber approach and only 509 votes against it.

These 1226 votes were much more than the two-thirds majority required to pass the bond issue. Later, in November, at

How Ladies Improve Looks!

"Many ladies, old and young, suffer from a round of tortures with their nerves, and many are so frail, thin and bloodless that their splendid features are lost sight of, while a faint attempt to cancel the angularity of the figure, develops no one but themselves and really excites the pity or ridicule of the world," said a well-known, largely employed practicing physician, in a recent lecture at a young ladies' college. "It is not mind exposing a little secret of mine to all such, as it can do no harm and may result in much happiness and health. It is simply this: Any thin, bloodless, nerve-tortured man or woman can become as fit as the fittest by taking regularly for several months an easily obtained pharmaceutical product known by the profession and pharmacists as 'three-grain hypo-nutrient tablets,' put up in sealed packages with directions for home use.—ADVERTISEMENT."

Map of Sixteenth Ward and Delegate Who Misrepresented Voters on Bridge Question

the general election, the Sixteenth Ward cast 1226 votes for the bond issue and 509 against it. In the Sixteenth Ward, it is explained, as it has been explained in other wards, this apparent increase in opposition is due to the fact that there were various amendments to be voted on, some of which the voters were strongly opposed to. In their eagerness to vote against them they voted "no" on all such propositions.

A visitor in the sixteenth ward finds almost eight men in every ten willing to vote for the Reber approach as a quick means of completing the bridge if the proposition can be submitted again.

"Situation a Shame."

"The situation as it stands, and as it has stood for some time is a burning shame," said Henry Lindhorst, a grocer at Grand avenue and Hickory street. "I have always been for the Reber approach. So far as I can see, it is the only practical way in which the bridge can be completed. I have talked to many of my friends in this ward, all of them men of prominent business interests, and they have said that this ward would again give the Reber approach proposition a two-thirds majority if permitted to again vote upon it. Many of these men are opposed to anything but the Reber approach, simply because the Reber route is already owned by the city and because experts have proven it to be the cheapest and best for the purpose. Delegate McCarthy may be sincere in maintaining that the Alton & Mississippi route is a better one than the Reber, and if such is the case, all I can say is that his stand is just the opposite to that of the majority of the voters in this ward, and the records are on file to prove it."

Col. Richard M. Johnson, for four years Assistant Circuit Attorney and eight years Assistant Prosecuting Attorney, is a strong advocate of the Reber approach. Col. Johnson resides at 3331 Vista avenue.

"A man with ordinary sense will see that the Reber approach should be chosen," he said. "The voters of this ward want the bridge finished, and in a hurry at that. All this monkeying going on in the House of Delegates is not going to get us anywhere, at all. Quote me as saying that two-thirds of us in this ward will go strong for the Hines bill and that we are overwhelmingly against the A. & M. proposition as it now stands ready to be forced upon the people."

Charles Weidner, a grocer at 3463 Park avenue, declared:

"It is a shame the way the politicians of this city have muddled up the free bridge matter. I have always been for the Reber approach. The proposition should be submitted again, passed by the people and work on the bridge begun at once."

Why Reber Plan Is Favored.

Adam Reis, a grocer at 3400 Park avenue, is a close friend of Congressman L. C. Dyer. Congressman Dyer is the sixteenth ward's Republican City Commissioner. In Dyer's absence in Washington, however, the ward is represented by Robert Moore as proxy. Moore is a clerk in the Supply Commissioner's office in the city hall.

"At first I was against the Reber approach," said Reis. "After that I gave the matter very careful study. I noticed that all the St. Louis civic bodies were for it, that all the business men were for it, and that the press, especially the Post-Dispatch, advocated it. I went into the matter more thoroughly and concluded that the Reber route was the best to be used for the building of the east side approach. So firmly convinced am I now that I can convince all I can to convince others, and I believe that if the people can again vote on it the bond issue will be passed. The A. & M. bill is not going to be rammed down the throats of the people and a submission of it a vote is only going to result in waste of time. The Reber approach is the most practical, it belongs to us, it has been approved by expert engineers. Why not build the bridge over this route and get through with the matter. For can put me down as not in favor of spending $4,000,000 to $7,000,000 for something when I can buy it for $2,500,000."

OUT MURPHY TO SAVE TAMMANY, CROKER ADVISES

Former Leader Says Boss Must Be Eliminated if Organization
Is to Survive.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Richard Croker, predecessor of Charles F. Murphy as leader of Tammany Hall, has declared that Murphy must be eliminated from control of the famous Democratic organization is to survive and maintain its influence.

Croker's attack is embodied in a letter written by him to John Fox, who once was president of the National Democratic Club, from the Croker estate in Ireland, Nov. 18, 1912.

Croker's Letter on Murphy.

"This is what Croker wrote to Fox: 'GLENCAIRN, Sandford Co., Dublin. 'My Dear Senator—It is a long time since I heard from you. The last American papers we got before this evening were Oct. 23. These are the 9th, 10th, 11th, so we got no papers telling us of the result of the election.'

"The result of the election did not surprise me, as I felt sure Mitchell would have a very large majority. Murphy was a big handicap on McCall. The Hall will never win under Murphy's management. I hope some good men will get in and drive all them grafters and contractors out. 'Cordially, 'RICHARD.'"

Shakes Faith of Murphy Men.

This was written on the stationery of the former Tammany boss, bearing his name and the motto: "God Feeds Them." The letter became public yesterday subsequent to the death of Senator Fox, some time ago.

Tammany stood aghast at this open break between Murphy and Croker. The publication of the letter shook the faith of many organization men who, while loyal to Murphy, have backed back to Croker as the real partner of a leader for the Wigwag's fortunes.

EDISON WILL BE 67 TOMORROW, SPENDS $200,000 A YEAR

Inventor Says Cost of Experiments Cuts Income to Salary of Railway President.

EATS 10 OUNCES FOOD

Declares, However, He Doesn't Work Hard Any More; Only 15½ Hours a Day.

By Leonard Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Thomas A. Edison will be 67 years old tomorrow. A reporter called to see him today in his West Orange workshop and found him in good humor.

"I'm mighty glad to see you," he said as he dropped into an arm chair and stretched his legs comfortably. "Am I well and hearty with my sixty-seventh birthday just around the corner?"

"Now, look at me. What do you say?"

There was only one thing to say—that, although he will be 67 tomorrow, he looked vigorous enough and healthy enough to invent many more things to make the world happy and comfortable. As he lounged in the sunlight, talking according to his mood, one got a pretty definite notion of the man that Edison is today. He remains thick chested and deep bodied. He is large of frame, although he is the lightest of sailors.

His head is big, wide of brow, and handsome, with plenty of whitening hair that he combs carefully. There are few wrinkles in the broad, pink and white face. Gray eyes and expressive mouth have the habit of smiling but Mr. Edison's temper, as they know around his factories, short circuits and flames blue if waste, carelessness or disobedience is discovered. For the rest, he is sunny, simple, unpretentious and devoid of guile and vanity.

Edison's Work Hours: Only 15 Hours.

"How hard do you work nowadays, Mr. Edison?" asked the reporter, speaking loudly and distinctly close to his right ear. For the man who invented the phonograph and perfected the telephone and who has solved wonderful problems in sound delicacy has been slightly deaf ever since a day in boyhood when a Grand Trunk conductor boxed his ears for exploding a bottle of phosphorus.

"Oh, I don't work hard any more," he said with a chuckle. "I start in at about 5:30 a. m. and keep at it until 12."

"Twelve noon?"

"No, midnight. You see, Mrs. Edison, objected to my grinding, so she cut down my work hours. But I have got her pretty well trained now. Got her so she needs only one or two hours of sleep a day and nine to ten ounces of food. I get up about 4 o'clock usually and find something to play with until 10 or 11 o'clock; a young fellow like me, with a lot of ideas in his head, only needs five hours of sleep."

"But what about those nine or ten ounces of food you say you have trained Mrs. Edison up to, or down to, rather?"

"That's right. That's no joke," laughed Mr. Edison. "People eat too much. That's why they're always getting sick and worked out. So I started in years ago to feed myself about one ounce of food daily. I eat everything I like, but I don't eat much of any one thing. I persuaded Mrs. Edison that I had the right idea, and after some argument it took a little explaining—she tried it and has kept right on."

William H. Meadowcroft, Mr. Edison's friend, confident and assistant for more than 30 years, came into the room at that moment, busy on one of eight or nine hundred jobs that had to be cleared up before night.

"What's he been talking about, the insomnia club?" said Mr. Meadowcroft.

"Mrs. Edison put an end to that. About a year and a half ago she went on a visit and what do you suppose this husband of hers and a few of his old cronies, electrical experts and the like, did? They worked and tinkered and experimented for 16 hours in one week. The time clock showed it—more than twenty hours a day. Mrs. Edison broke up the club when she got back."

Mr. Edison heard this story of the disbanding of the insomnia club and his smile shone.

"She fooled some," he said. "Told me, 'when the cat's away, the mice work too hard.'"

"By the way, Mr. Edison," reminded Mr. Meadowcroft, "you have an appointment with some singers for this afternoon, a soprano, a mezzo and one or two others."

"Is there a tenor robusto in the collection?" inquired the boss, blowing out his cheeks and grinning. "Hoarse for tenors robusto! Do you know these singers are all eunuchs by temperament! They are a lot of fun."

Edison's Cost: $200,000 a Year.

"Is it a fair question, Mr. Edison, to ask what your income is from phonographs, the movies, storage batteries, incandescent lights, telephones and the many other inventions patented and commercialized?"

"A good railroad president!"

"Well, yes, a pretty good one. Money always has a habit of getting away from me, because I'm always experimenting, and that costs a heap. In this laboratory here where I sort of play with science and keep the toys I love best, I spend $200,000 a year. That's what my experimenting costs me. I've always been that way. When I sold to the Western Union the inventions I had got up for them—that was years ago—they gave me $200,000, but I knew I was a genius if I took all that money at once, so I made the agreement that I was to get it in 17 installments. They lasted over 17 years, and I kept feeling 'an into the mill.'"

DR. LEE WISHES TO HAVE PAGEANT GIVEN ON SUNDAY

That the pageant, to be given in Forest Park next May, shall contain religious features, and that a Sunday production of the work shall be given, are suggestions which have been made to the Executive Committee of the St. Louis Pageant Drama Association by the Rev. Dr. James W. Lee, pastor of St. John's Methodist Church.

Dr. Lee, in his Sunday morning sermon, spoke of the pageant as a great civic manifestation and a means of uniting all localities and elements. He said that this great public drama should not be confined wholly to secular themes, but that the development of the city's religious life and religious institutions should be adequately shown.

With due representation given to the city's religious life, he said, the pageant could be fittingly produced on a Sunday, and he expressed the hope that this would be done.

"So far as I have heard from my own congregation on this matter," Dr. Lee told a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday, "they heartily approve of the suggestions which I made. I hope other ministers will join in this request, so that we may be able to get the religious feature included in the pageant while the book is still in the making."

MERIT SYSTEM IN NEW CHARTER; 2 FAVORED SPOILS

Rutledge and Hertenstein Overridden by Ten of Freeholders' Board.

After Charles W. Rutledge and Charles Hertenstein had made pleas for the retention of the spoils system in the proposed new City Charter, the Board of Freeholders Monday night, by a vote of 10 to 2, went on record as approving the merit system already agreed upon, and written as a chapter of the new charter.

Rutledge read a long paper, praising the patriotism and high-mindedness of the politicians, and deploring the fact that the charter makers had undertaken to eliminate him. He declared there was no crying demand for the merit system, and that the charter makers would endanger the success of the charter by adopting it. He declared city officials elected by the people should have the right to select their own assistants, without the interference or direction of a civil service or efficiency commission.

One of the members of the board replied that officials, under the present system, have their appointments largely made by the political committees, who parcel the jobs out among themselves, or their ward workers.

Franchisees Discussed.
A part of the evening was devoted to a discussion of one of the franchise articles of the charter. A draft of an article was submitted by a committee comprised of Charles Hertenstein, Fred D. Gardner, Selden P. Spencer, Clinton E. Udeil and Secretary Wilbur B. Jones. The proposed article was patterned closely after the franchise provisions of the proposed charter of 1910, written by the Board of Freeholders of which Frederick W. Lehman was chairman.

The board agreed that all franchises should not be referred to the people for a vote, as such a system might be so cumbersome and expensive that it would give the present owners of franchises a perpetual monopoly. It was provided that no franchise should become effective until 40 days after being granted by the Assembly, to give the people an opportunity to invoke the referendum against it.

It was also agreed that the charter should provide that the city might acquire any public utility within 10 years after the granting of the franchise, or at any five-year period thereafter. This would make the franchise indeterminate, and would still afford sufficient assurance to capital to induce its investment in utilities, such as subways or railroad systems, the Freeholders declared.

Under these conditions, the Freeholders decided that franchise might be granted for a 50-year term. Freeholder Rosenfield objected to 50-year grants, asserting that the modern idea was opposed to franchise of more than 25 years' duration.

Will Permit a Profit.
The Freeholders were of the opinion that the city ought to have the fullest power to acquire franchises, consistent with conditions essential to the safe investment of money in utility enterprises. Few public service corporations were successful under 10 years, it was asserted. It was the view of the members that it would be unfair to deprive the owners of a utility of their enterprise until they had had an opportunity to earn some return on their investment.

It was also decided that no franchise should be assignable except upon consent of the city, expressed by ordinance. This provision was inserted to prevent franchisees from falling into the hands of interests antagonistic to the public welfare.

"We are having an example of this sort of thing now," said Louis P. Aloe. "This Alton & Mississippi proposition is before the people. The people want to know who is back of it, and the promoter will not tell them."

BOY'S EYE KNOCKED OUT; HOLY ROLLER ARRESTED

Youth Taken From Hospital for Insane, Beaten to Drive Out "Evil Spirits."

ANNA, Ill., Feb. 10.—Walter Ellis, residing near this city, is in the Jonesboro Jail following injuries he and Adam Cripe inflicted on Noah Hickam while they were praying to cast out "evil spirits" with which they, as Holy Rollers, alleged Hickam was possessed.

The parents of Hickam had recently become converted to the Holy Roller faith and had succeeded in obtaining the release of their son from the Anna State Hospital for the insane, where he was confined, afflicted with epilepsy. In their efforts to relieve Hickam of the evil spirits he was beaten and bruised on the chest; an arm was broken and one eye was destroyed.

Ellis, who is 27 years old, is said to have burned 16 hours recently, saying they were unfit for food.

BONDS WOULD WIN, SAY DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEEMEN

Party Chiefs Declare All Citizens Demand Speedy Completion of Bridge.

DIFFERENCES ON THE PLAN

Members of Committee Say Reber Approach Is the Best Proposition.

Several Democratic members of the House of Delegates and other supporters of the A. & M. grab have declared recently that a bridge bond issue could be carried. The Post-Dispatch has been endeavoring to keep in close touch with the sentiment in the ward. They are most unanimous in the opinion that the bond issue will carry, although there is some difference of opinion among them as to which approach they consider the proper one.

ANDREW SHERIDAN, First Ward, is for finishing the bridge. I don't care about the approach and can't say which one I favor. The sentiment in my ward is for finishing the bridge. I don't give the question of the approach any thought. I have no preference, but I am for finishing the bridge. The sooner it is done, the better. It's a disgrace to the city that it stands. Any bond issue will carry in this ward, unless there is some high or the people suspect some dishonesty. In that case they will vote it down.

JOSEPH H. BROGAN, Third Ward, is strong for completing the bridge, but I am not acquainted with the facts as to the approach situation. The proposition of a bond issue for the completion of the bridge has always been passed in this ward. There is a large retail and labor vote in the Third ward which would oppose a bond issue. I don't see what sentiment may have arisen the last two weeks, for I have been over the State with the Senate Commission.

WILLIAM J. BERNAN, Fourth Ward, is for the bridge. I have no preference as to the approach. The Fourth Ward has always opposed the bridge bonds, and I believe it would oppose them again. The reason for this is that the people of our ward are against the Chouteau avenue site. I have been against the bridge since it was first proposed. It is a trouble with St. Louis is that it is supposed of a lot of factions that are so successful in playing to the gallery that they pull against each other. I haven't won the bridge any thought since I left the House of Delegates, consequently I don't know anything about the approach.

THOMAS EGAN, Fifth Ward, hasn't any feelings in the matter of the Free bridge, except I want to see it completed. The approaches make no difference to me. The voters of the Fifth ward will be for either bond issue.

PATRICK O'DONNELL, Sixth Ward, like the Seventh, wants to see the bridge finished. The bond issues have been carried heretofore in our ward, and I am sure we will give the necessary two-thirds majority at the next bond issue election. The matter of approaches is of no concern to us. We want to see the bridge completed.

HERWARD RICH, Seventh Ward, I have no voice as to the approach, but I wish the bridge to be finished. I want to see the bridge completed. The Seventh Ward will be strong for the bond issue.

JOHN J. KENNEDY, Eighth Ward, I feel the free bridge ought to be finished as quickly as possible. I think the Reber approach the best proposition. The voters want the bridge built and they will vote for any bond issue for that purpose.

WILLIAM KASER, Ninth Ward, I think the Reber approach, our representative in the House of Delegates, is making a mistake. He ought to change his tactics and fall in line. Everybody wants to see the bridge completed. The demand is city-wide. There is only one approach and that's the Reber to a certainty.

HENRY STRUTHER, Tenth Ward, I will certainly get out and work hard for any bond issue to complete the bridge. Personally, I haven't much preference as to approaches, but the way the House of Delegates members explain it to me, the A. & M. proposition looks pretty good. The Tenth Ward was three to two against the first bond issue, but we had time it carried by a majority. I think it would again get a majority, though possibly not a two-thirds majority.

J. J. GUCKER, Eleventh Ward, I am in favor of finishing the free bridge, and so are the voters of my ward. We are not particular as to the approach. We will carry any bond issue. We're not only strong for the bridge bonds, but we are in favor of the proposed $2,000,000 issue for general improvements.

J. D. LUKENBELL, Thirteenth Ward, I'm for finishing the bridge, and so are the voters of my ward. We are not particular as to the approach. We will carry any bond issue. We're not only strong for the bridge bonds, but we are in favor of the proposed $2,000,000 issue for general improvements.

teenth, chairman: I am for the completion of the Free Bridge. The Reber approach appears to be the most feasible, but I am not fully posted on the approach question.

JOHN E. CLOONEY, Sixteenth, I've always been for finishing the Free Bridge, and am that way now. At present I am not ready to state any preference as to the approach. In fact, I haven't given the approach question serious thought. The voters in my ward are for finishing the bridge.

LAWLER P. DALY, Seventeenth, I feel about the same as the Post-Dispatch on the free bridge question. I'm for finishing the bridge right away, and by the Reber approach. The Seventeenth Ward feels the same. We gave the necessary two-thirds majority at the last bond issue election, and I can safely say we will repeat.

JOHN F. BYRNE, Eighteenth, I guess the members of the House of Delegates know more about finishing the free bridge than we do. I have no preference as to the approach. Of course, I'm for finishing the bridge as soon as possible.

THOMAS J. BUTLER, Nineteenth, also a member of the House of Delegates from that ward: As a committee man, I feel about the free bridge just as I do as a Delegate. I am doing what I feel to be right. (Butler consistently has voted for the A. & M. grab.)

MICHAEL J. MULVILL, Twentieth, I am working hard on a plan, which I hope will aid in straightening out the present tangle. I don't want to say anything just at present. (Mulvill has been aligned with the Reber camp.)

JOHN F. DURNING, Twenty-first, I'd like to see the bridge completed. In its present state it's a blot on the town. I haven't studied the question of approaches, but I understand the Reber approach is owned by the city, and it looks foolish to think of spending $4,000,000 or $7,000,000, if $2,750,000 will do the work. The voters of my ward feel about the same.

PHIL DWYER, Twenty-second, I don't know a thing about the approaches, but I know the bridge ought to be finished. It's no good the way it is. I voted twice for the bond issue and will do so again. The sentiment in this ward is for finishing the bridge as quickly as possible.

L. T. MATHIAS, Twenty-third, I have been for finishing the bridge and worked for it. I need a bridge, because I am in the coal business, and I want to see that Illinois coal brought in by the free bridge. If the Reber approach is the Post-Dispatch proposition, there's no question but what it is the cheapest and most desirable approach. We will carry the bridge bond issue three or four to one.

PATRICK FAHERTY, Twenty-fourth, It looks like the Reber approach is the only one. That's the approach I'm for. I am strong for finishing the free bridge, and I think it will carry by the necessary two-thirds majority.

JOHN F. DURNING, Twenty-fifth, I am in favor of the Reber approach. I think a bridge is a bridge, and the Reber approach is the only one. That's the approach I'm for. I am strong for finishing the free bridge, and I think it will carry by the necessary two-thirds majority.

JOHN F. DURNING, Twenty-sixth, I have no preference as to the approach, but I would like to see the bridge completed. I haven't discussed the approach situation with Delegate Whalen, but I know the bridge ought to be finished. It's no good the way it is. I voted twice for the bond issue and will do so again. The sentiment in this ward is for finishing the bridge as quickly as possible.

JOHN F. DURNING, Twenty-seventh, I am very anxious to see the bridge completed. I feel the people have started something and the responsibility rests with them to finish it. We have been for the bonds in our ward heretofore, and I think sentiment has gained for them since the last bond issue election. The Southern Traction bill and the question of hiring union labor constituted the right before. If the bill reducing the traction company's franchise is passed, I am sure the bonds will carry. I think inasmuch as the Board of Public Improvements has selected the Reber approach and the land has been condemned, it should be the approach used. If the bridge can be finished for $2,750,000 on the approach we now own, the A. & M. approach is eliminated from the argument. I don't think the Terminal has any more chance to bottle up the bridge than any other railroad would have to bottle up the A. & M. I think the decision of the Supreme Court has answered the "bottling" argument.

WILLIAM S. REX, Twenty-eighth, I am very much in favor of completing the Free Bridge as soon as possible, and from what I can learn the Reber approach is the most practical. With the voters in the Twenty-eighth the situation is much the same, except that they are more concerned in seeing the bridge completed, than in a controversy about the approach.

JOHN F. DURNING, Twenty-fifth, I am in favor of the Reber approach. I think a bridge is a bridge, and the Reber approach is the only one. That's the approach I'm for. I am strong for finishing the free bridge, and I think it will carry by the necessary two-thirds majority.

JOHN F. DURNING, Twenty-sixth, I have no preference as to the approach, but I would like to see the bridge completed. I haven't discussed the approach situation with Delegate Whalen, but I know the bridge ought to be finished. It's no good the way it is. I voted twice for the bond issue and will do so again. The sentiment in this ward is for finishing the bridge as quickly as possible.

out the present tangle. I don't want to say anything just at present. (Mulvill has been aligned with the Reber camp.)

JOHN F. DURNING, Twenty-first, I'd like to see the bridge completed. In its present state it's a blot on the town. I haven't studied the question of approaches, but I understand the Reber approach is owned by the city, and it looks foolish to think of spending $4,000,000 or $7,000,000, if $2,750,000 will do the work. The voters of my ward feel about the same.

PHIL DWYER, Twenty-second, I don't know a thing about the approaches, but I know the bridge ought to be finished. It's no good the way it is. I voted twice for the bond issue and will do so again. The sentiment in this ward is for finishing the bridge as quickly as possible.

L. T. MATHIAS, Twenty-third, I have been for finishing the bridge and worked for it. I need a bridge, because I am in the coal business, and I want to see that Illinois coal brought in by the free bridge. If the Reber approach is the Post-Dispatch proposition, there's no question but what it is the cheapest and most desirable approach. We will carry the bridge bond issue three or four to one.

PATRICK FAHERTY, Twenty-fourth, It looks like the Reber approach is the only one. That's the approach I'm for. I am strong for finishing the free bridge, and I think it will carry by the necessary two-thirds majority.

JOHN F. DURNING, Twenty-seventh, I am very anxious to see the bridge completed. I feel the people have started something and the responsibility rests with them to finish it. We have been for the bonds in our ward heretofore, and I think sentiment has gained for them since the last bond issue election. The Southern Traction bill and the question of hiring union labor constituted the right before. If the bill reducing the traction company's franchise is passed, I am sure the bonds will carry. I think inasmuch as the Board of Public Improvements has selected the Reber approach and the land has been condemned, it should be the approach used. If the bridge can be finished for $2,750,000 on the approach we now own, the A. & M. approach is eliminated from the argument. I don't think the Terminal has any more chance to bottle up the bridge than any other railroad would have to bottle up the A. & M. I think the decision of the Supreme Court has answered the "bottling" argument.

WILLIAM S. REX, Twenty-eighth, I am very much in favor of completing the Free Bridge as soon as possible, and from what I can learn the Reber approach is the most practical. With the voters in the Twenty-eighth the situation is much the same, except that they are more concerned in seeing the bridge completed, than in a controversy about the approach.

Dr. W. H. Salmon Gives Ill Health as Reason; University Officials Reluctant.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 10.—Dr. William H. Salmon, whose activity in religious work began in his student days, more than 20 years ago, and won preferment for him in many church, missionary and educational undertakings, has suddenly severed his connection with Yale. The reason given is ill health, but the university authorities are singularly reticent concerning his departure, thus permitting inferences that the cause assigned is not the only one.

Dr. Salmon is 63 years old and a native of London, Canada. He wrote extensively on religious subjects, filled the pulpit in several important churches in different parts of the country and went to China for the Yale movement there and made it his home. In 1905 he was called to the post at the university.

Every authority on health and disease prevention agree that at this time of the year is the season to stamp out rats. Rats are not only a menace to health but to property as well. Scientists have found that two rats left unmolested for three years will breed a million. Advice given at this season to prevent widespread breeding is to purchase any kind of a rat exterminator from a druggist and to use it liberally.

CUSACK COMPANY TO BEAUTIFY ALL ITS BILLBOARDS

Firm Applies for Permit to Make Necessary Changes to Conform to 1905 Law.

The Thomas Cusack Co., one of the biggest billboard concerns in the country, Tuesday applied to Building Commissioner McKelvey for permits to remodel billboards to conform to the 1905 ordinance. This action followed the Cusack company's surrender in the billboard fight, announced Monday. Jephtha D. Howe, who has represented the Cusack Company in its recent efforts to have a substitute billboard ordinance passed by the Municipal Assembly, said Thomas Cusack did not begin the litigation several years ago which resulted in the validity of the 1905 ordinance being attacked in every court, including the United States Supreme Court. He said Cusack inherited the litigation when he took control of the company. Since then, he declared, there has been an entire change in policy.

Boards to Be Attractive. "The Cusack company has taken the heartiest interest in billboards to conform to public taste and make them so attractive that there will be no opposition to them," Howe said. "In deference to public sentiment all the company's boards are to be beautified. The work of modifying them and reconstructing them is to be done as rapidly as possible. We hope that the city will deal fairly with us and will not proceed against us."

"It is the policy of the Cusack Company to reduce its plant to single deck boards. All double-deck boards erected before 1905 will be cut down to single boards and be made to comply with the 1905 ordinance in every respect. All the boards that have been erected since 1905 will be reconstructed under new permits to comply with the 1905 law. This will be done at once, in about the time that it would take the Building Commissioner to destroy them."

Action Against Poster Co. The Cusack company was not a party to the recent application in the Federal Court for an injunction restraining the city from tearing down illegal billboards. This action was taken by the St. Louis Poster Advertising Co., against which McKelvey yesterday filed 14 summonses in police court for violations of the 1905 ordinance.

Twelve of the summonses also were directed against the owners of property on which the billboards are erected.

SPRING AUTO SHOW ON AT COLISEUM; MANY CARS THERE

Exhibition Is to Continue Through Sunday With Band Concert Daily.

The Spring Automobile Show opened Monday at the Coliseum with a fair attendance in the afternoon and evening. It will continue through Sunday. There is a good display of new models and accessories and demonstrations are made by most of the exhibitors. The opening concert was given during the afternoon by a band. Concerts are to be given each afternoon at 2:30. Not all the exhibits had arrived by the opening day. Some had been delayed en route but were expected to arrive Tuesday. A number of factory men were also to arrive Tuesday and their presence will give a national touch to the show.

Trained Men for Exhibits. Trained exhibit men and demonstrators are in charge of the different exhibits, who are eager to explain to spectators the new points about the latest models. The first sale was made Monday. E. S. Cole of the Corby Supply Co. sold a Little Giant 2-cylinder, 20 horse-power truck to the Butler-Vernon Mercantile Co. of Salem, Mo. It is to be used in delivery service for the company, but will remain on exhibition during the show.

The Corby company has a large exhibit. The power plant of both types of Little Giant trucks is shown and two trucks of each type are on exhibition. A motor with the parts exposed, and with clutch and transmission attached, is operated electrically.

The Automobile Clearing House of St. Louis has a representative Haynes exhibit. It includes a seven-passenger six, a four-passenger six, and a four-cylinder coupe. The cars are standard black and are equipped with the Vauxcan electric gear shift. C. G. Jackson, who is in charge, will be joined Tuesday by Kenneth Simon, from the factory at Kokomo, Ind.

The Havers Motor Car Co. has three bright-colored automobiles.

W. H. Comford, assisted by A. M. Zerweck, shows and explains the Henderson touring car equipped with the Harwood oil oil carburetor in the exhibit space of the De Luxe Automobile Co.

Other Cars Displayed. The Imperial Motor Car Co. shows six Imperial cars in charge of M. L. Weber, president of the company.

A. H. Meyer, president of the Meyer Motor Car Co., looks after an exhibit of pleasure cars and trucks.

The Empire Gasoline Economizer display is in charge of H. M. Newell Jr. and George C. Eccles of the agency firm of Newell & Eccles.

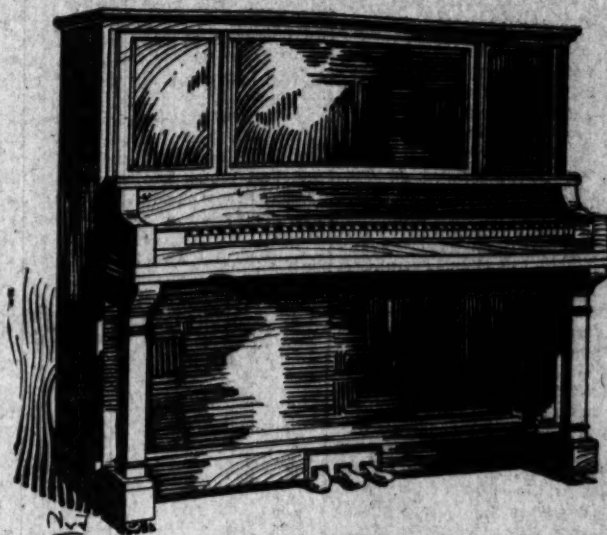

Several firms that are not represented at the show are giving private exhibitions at their salesrooms. These include the Missouri Motor Co., the Kar-del Motor Car Co., the Cole Motor Co. of Missouri, the Foreman Co. and others.

LEO KELLY GIVEN DUBIOUS VERDICT OVER ED BUTLER

Compton Heights Fighter Blocks Many Blows With Face and Body.

Moose Club Decisions

LEO KELLY of St. Louis vs. Ed ("Red") Butler of Kansas City; eight rounds, announced at 125 pounds; Kelly the winner on points.

NAT KALE of Chicago vs. Johnny McKenna of Milwaukee; six rounds at 116 pounds; Kale the winner; stopped in second round to save McKenna from further punishment.

LOU NAUMANN vs. Jimmy Carey; six rounds at 128 pounds; draw.

YOUNG FOLEY vs. "Young" Williams; six rounds at 112 pounds; Foley the winner on points.

By Harry S. Sharpe,

Referee for the Future City A. C. and the Post-Dispatch's Boxing Authority.

LEO KELLY of St. Louis was given Referee G. Gahan's decision over Ed ("Red") Butler of Kansas City, Mo., last night at the Moose Club after eight rounds of rough fighting in which the Queensberry rules were ignored in many particulars.

The referee's decision probably will create a lot of discussion as his opinion was not held by many of the spectators who believed Butler won on points.

Kelly's in-fighting was best and his blows had more force, but Butler did most of the leading and scored many more points, though a majority of them were scored with blows that were light and landed many times on the forehead of Kelly, where, very likely, they caused the local boy but little inconvenience. Still, they were placed and could not be ignored.

Not all of Butler's blows were light ones, however, and as such some heavy ones to Kelly's body and head of some hard enough to the face to make Kelly's nose bleed and puff his right eye, which has not yet entirely resumed its normal appearance since his recent bout with Freddie Welsh.

Much Holding and Hitting.

There was a lot of clinching in every round and very little good boxing at long range. Both boxers did a lot of holding and, at the same time, whenever opportunity presented itself, hit at the body and head and continued to do so until Referee Gahan would jump in between and pry them apart.

Butler complained about Kelly, saying that he was hitting low, and in the fifth round there seemed to be no doubt of it, and the referee warned Kelly. It looked as if the blow hurt Butler, but he kept on fighting, though he threatened to quit unless Kelly was made to be more fair.

The weight was announced as 125 pounds, but Kelly looked to be considerably over this and did not appear to be in his usual good condition. Due, no doubt, to the fact that he was called upon to take the bout at short notice when he was substituted for Harry Treadwell.

Butler looked to be under weight, and was not so strong as the rugged St. Louis boy. Once, near the ending of the second round, Kelly became impatient and wrestled Butler to the floor.

Nat Kale of Chicago, who is billed to go on tonight at the P. C. A. C. against James White of New York, made short shrift of Johnny McKenna of Milwaukee and the bout was stopped by Referee Gahan in the second round when it was apparent that the Milwaukee boxer was outwitted. In addition to this, McKenna had struck low a number of times and had been cautioned.

HARRY will be your next opponent if you buy me a diamond ring at Latta Bros. & Co. on Monday afternoon, 50 C. to $100 N. 9th st.

WRAVY'S COLUMN

A Little Tank Drama.

NO surer indication of the progress of the United States in sports is to be found than in swimming affairs. Not long since C. M. Daniels held about all the records in sight, from 50 yards to one mile. Today Daniels retains but three of his old marks, newcomers having crowded him from prominence.

Of course Daniels has been out of the game and has had no opportunity to come along with the general advance. Had he remained in competition perhaps he might have been right up there with Duke Kahanamoku and with the wonderful constellation of stars assembled by the Illinois Athletic Club, Chicago.

Sidestep This Team, Whittaker.

PROBABLY the most remarkable bunch of swimmers that ever competed as a team has been assembled by the I. A. C. About the only paddler of world's championship complexion not a member of this squad is Kahanamoku, the Hawaiian. In the list of performers are the following men, some of them largely responsible for Daniels' downfall:

RAITHIEL—50 yards (23.4-5s.), 100 yards (54.3-5s.). Kahanamoku has equalled both marks.

MCGILLIVRAY—Holds all records from 250 yards up to 1750 yards.

McDERMOTT—Breast-stroke champion, who has done the 200 yards in 2m. 38.4-5s.

HEBER—Holder of the backstroke 150 yards record, 1m. 54.4-5s.

YOSBURG, HENNER, RAITHIEL AND MCGILLIVRAY—World's championship relay team, record 3m. 46s. or 36s. per man for the 100 yards.

The I. A. C. team, with one or two additions, could very well make up the U. S. Olympic swimming team in 1916.

Has It Come to This?

ST. LOUIS owes Organized Baseball few favors. By running both teams into last place, or near it, with annual consistency, Baseball has given a Washington writer the excuse to refer to this as a minor league city!

And this from Washington, too, where they never knew the baseball world contained anything else but a cellar, for acorns and acorn wine.

Would If They Could.

HERE'S another one from Wood-riville: "St. Louis teams are allowed to play baseball on Sundays, but the trouble is that the racials won't." We move, Mr. Speaker, the substitution of the word "can't" for "won't," in the above, more clearly expressing the true condition.

He Never Will Be Missed.

JAMES THORPE was a wonderful athlete in the last Olympic games. His work in the decathlon and pentathlon will hardly be surpassed in 1916. But his loss to the amateur world will not be keenly felt in the point column in 1916, unless Alma Richards, the Cornell athlete, suffers some setback.

Cornell Relay Will Not Meet Oxford in Special Race at Penn U. Games

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 10.—Cornell will not enter a four-mile relay team against Oxford in the Pennsylvania races because of the one-year eligibility rule in force in this country but not in effect at Oxford, makes the conditions of the proposed race unfair.

KIECKHEFER RETAINS CUE LEAD WITH A RUN OF 11

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 13.—August Kieckhefer of Milwaukee retained his first place position in the International Champion Billiard League by defeating Charles McNulty of Chicago in the game here last night, 58 to 32. Had McNulty won, Kieckhefer had a high chance of first place.

DWIGHT DAVIS TO PLAY IN NATIONAL RACQUET TOURNEY

Local Star Goes to Boston This Week to Try for Championship in Singles.

By W. J. O'Connor.

Park Commissioner Dwight F. Davis, who, with Joe Wear, holds the national championship in doubles, will go East this week to compete next Monday at Boston in the racquet championship (singles) tournament at Boston. He will compete against the best players in the U. S. A. and is conceded by local experts to have a good chance of winning the title in singles.

As a preliminary workout for his Boston invasion, Davis Monday defeated two of the University Club players of Chicago, gaining for St. Louis a tie in the inter-city series by beating C. Gilden Osborne in straight sets, 15-9, 15-9 and 15-11, respectively. Previously, on Saturday, Davis, with Wear, had won from Osborne and George Thorne in doubles. His victories in doubles and singles evened up the count, as the Chicago men had won all three matches in singles Saturday, A. Y. Wear, Clarence King and Allen West losing for the locals.

New to Hurdles and Discus.

He is new to the hurdles, but is practicing them daily and with his jumping and sprinting ability will doubtless be able to hang up quite a remarkable performance in this event. He has no competitive mark as a discus thrower, but has shown well in private trials.

It's the virtue of this country's championship class that for every athlete dropping out, there's a new champion coming up.

Yankees Sure to Lose.

UNLESS the committee in charge of the Pennsylvania University's relay games holds the visiting team from Oxford University, England, to the letter of the eligibility law, America is doomed to defeat in the most important relay race run annually in this country—the class A, four-mile event, for universities.

Responding to an invitation, will send a team of four runners who are, absolutely unbeatable. They are: Jackson (the Englishman who showed so well at the Olympic games), Sproule, Budd and Taber. Every man on the squad is capable of doing a mile in 4m. 20s. or better, and if they are permitted to compete they will walk home with the event.

Freshmen Are Barred.

But, the class A teams in competition through Oxford are compelled, under the rules, to bar their freshmen. On the other hand, Oxford will be running two freshmen, Norman Taber and Basil Rudd, both Rhodes scholars, the former a famous rival of John Paul Jones, who made his name at Brown University.

If Pennsy bars Taber and Rudd, the Americans have a chance. But Oxford, having been invited to cross the water, it is not likely its team will be prevented from competing here for any such eligibility reason.

Or Considerably Less.

JOE TINKER declares that he wouldn't leave the Feds to rejoin organized baseball for $500,000, because he has too much pride. Which reminds us that pride goeth before a fall and $500,000 is mighty easy to "fall" for.

Stanley Roberts Shows Fine Form in Gym Workouts

If trial performances count for anything, Stanley Roberts will certainly give Benny McGovern an interesting eight rounds in their bout at the Future City Athletic Club tonight. Roberts has been working out at the club gym against all comers.

According to an eye-witness one of his greatest wins was against Treadwell and the Little fellow kept his heavier opponent busy, rocking him several times with good, stiff jolts. Roberts will have no alibi coming as to condition if he fails to make a good showing against McGovern.

Benny is a hot favorite on the strength of his longer experience, his speed and his wonderful cleverness. The styles of the two men make it a practical certainty that the bout will go the limit, with the popular opinion favoring McGovern. If there's a knockout Roberts is supposed to be the lad who will gain it, as he has a stiff jolt. On form shown against "Tinkies" Sanders, Roberts seems to draw with or beat McGovern. But other fights tell a different story as to "dope."

A semi-windup between James White of New York and Nate Kalk of Milwaukee is expected to furnish a real good show. The winner will probably meet Johnny Solberg. Monte Dale opposes Will Manninger in the first contest of the evening.

JERSEY CITY TEAM WILL PLAY AT EBBETS FIELD

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—If a suitable agreement can be reached between Charles Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn club, and Thomas Forsyth, owner of the Jersey City (National League) team, the Shatters will play at Ebbets Field this season. The proposition of transferring the Jersey City team to Brooklyn was made at the annual schedule gathering of the International League yesterday and while some club owners slightly opposed the move, the majority favored the plan.

The Shatters have been a losing team, financially, for a long time.

All-Star Field in Two-Mile Run.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—While Kramer, Sidney Leslie, James Koleschman and possibly Abel Kiviat, who won the Hunter mile in the Boston A. A. meet Saturday, will compete next Saturday night in a special two-mile race in Madison Square Garden under the auspices of the Irish-American A. A. it is expected that this evidence will clear all doubt as to the best of the two-mile men in the United States.

SPORT SALAD

BY L. C. DAVIS.

THE TURNING OF THE WORM.

MAGNATE of the major leagues was sitting in his den: He was engaged in counting up a stack of "iron men."

The said metallic persons he had previously earned, Promoting tail-end baseball, ere the trodden worm had turned.

But now the peaky worm had done an acrobatic stunt, And he was putting up a most uncompromising front:

He told the magnate to his face his team was very punk And he was sick and tired of the old familiar bunk.

The tears ran down the magnate's face And splashed upon the floor, Like briny breakers bursting on a bleak and barren shore;

And as the magnate listened to the rooster's bitter sneers, A porter rushed in with a mop and wiped away his tears.

"I used to cop," the magnate said, "no matter lose or win; Now everything is going out and nothing coming in. The fans are on to me at last, and that's no idle dream; The halcyon days are gone and past; I'll have to buy a team!"

You might Kilbane, but you can't Kid Thomas.

Branch Rickey addressed a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday evening. Looks like, first division.

The St. Louis Browns, with the same bunch of warriors that so valiantly routed the Yankees out of their cellar fastness last year, will depart for Florida in a few days, where they expect to get in condition and hold their position against all comers.

The magnates of organized ball say they will give the Federals no quarter. No, not even a jitney.

The plans for the Federal stands have been approved by the building commissioner. Now all they will have to do will be to build 'em and get a ball club.

Levinisky Calls Off Four Bouts; Shoulder Cracks

Under Strain of Fighting Twice a Week, New York Battler Breaks Down.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—While Battling Levinisky was boxing Tom McMahon at the Empire A. C. last Friday, the latter noticed that the latter winced with pain after McMahon hit him on the right shoulder. When Levinisky returned to his corner he complained that he could scarcely move his right arm.

The pain failed to abate under treatment and yesterday Levinisky went to the Polytechnic Hospital, where Prof. Bodine examined the shoulder. The Professor said the ligaments were badly twisted and advised Levinisky to rest for at least ten days.

Much against Manager Dan Moran's inclination, he had to call off four of Levinisky's bouts, which were scheduled for this week in different sections of the country. Levinisky said yesterday that he hoped to be in physical condition to box Bob Fitzsimmons six rounds at the National A. C. of Philadelphia two weeks hence.

The match between Levinisky and Fitzsimmons was the result of a lot of bartering on the part of Jack McDermott, manager of the club, and Moran, manager of Levinisky.

Cy Barger, who for several seasons starred as a pitcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers and who pitched good ball for the Newark (International League) club last season, has signed with the Pittsburgh Federals. A substantial salary increase lured Barger away from the organized field.

Manager Rickey made a switch in his training plans Monday, announcing that he will take a squad of 40 men South Friday afternoon, instead of 25, as first planned. Among the additions to the first squad are infielders Snodgrass, Miller, Covington and Hollander, outfielders Walker and Sloan, and Pitcher Stevens. Mangus, a new outfielder, who played part of last season with Atlantic City, will also start South Friday.

Catcher Tex Ewitt has signed with the Brooklyn club, accepting a one-year contract. He held out for a time, but was not swayed by the Federals.

Board of Appeal Approves Plans for Federal League Grand Stand

Plans for the construction of temporary stands of steel and wood at the Federal League Park, Grand and Laclede avenues, were approved Monday by the Board of Appeals, and work will begin at once on the erection of the grand stand, according to E. A. Steingler, president of the local outlaws.

The work grading Handian's Park has been going on for the past ten days while other business was at a standstill because of Building Commissioner McKelvey's refusal to O. K. the plans for a wooden grand stand. The Board of Appeals Monday overruled McKelvey, Steingler says work now will be rushed.

TERMINAL WON'T GIVE $1,000,000 FOR RANKEN TRACT

McChesney in Letter to Councilman Arenas Says Bonus Wouldn't Be Granted.

W. S. McChesney Jr., president of the Terminal Association, has written to Councilman M. C. H. Arenas, chairman of the special joint committee of the Municipal Assembly, regarding the proposed re-introduction of the Ranken tract bill, defeated by the Assembly in 1910.

McChesney, in his letter, shows interest in the passage of legislation which will enable the Terminal Association to develop the Ranken tract according to the plans of four years ago. But he states that the Terminal Association will not be willing to pay $1,000,000, or any other money bonus, for the privileges which it is proposed to confer. A proposal for the payment of $1,000,000 to the city was included in the ordinance of 1910.

Cites Busch-Diesel Precedent. He cites the ordinance of April, 1912, by which the city vacated parts of Dr. Kalb, Kocimulko and Utah streets, without any payment to the city, for the purpose of helping the Busch-Diesel Engine Co. to form a tract as a site for its factory. This, he holds, should be a precedent in the Ranken tract case.

The streets and alleys which the city would vacate in the Ranken tract, McChesney says, exist only on paper, and the city never has spent anything in improving them. Moreover, he states, they have no possible outlet, and if built, they would be of no public value. Therefore, he holds, it is not logical for the city to ask $1,000,000, or any other price, for vacating them.

Obligations Now Fulfilled. McChesney explains the $1,000,000 offer of 1910 by saying that it was not proposed as direct compensation for the privileges asked, but in satisfaction of certain old obligations of which the fulfillment the city had complained. Among these he mentions the Clark avenue viaduct over the Union Station train shed, which never was built, the demand for a vacant space between the front of Union Station and the Market street building line, and the failure to build a passenger station along the Levee elevated structure. He says the station at Washington avenue has since been built, and that such changes as have been possible to provide more space along Market street have been made.

MEMPHIS BANKER'S INDICTMENT TO BE DEMANDED TODAY

Prosecutor Will Lay Facts in $1,000,000 Shortage Before Grand Jury.

USED SAVINGS DEPOSITS

Working People Are Principal Losers in Peculations of C. H. Raine.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 10.—Attorney General Z. N. Kates announced today he would appear before the grand jury this afternoon and ask that an indictment be returned against C. Hunter Raine, president of the defunct Mercantile Bank, on a charge of embezzling at least $1,000,000. Indications today are that the amount of the defalcation probably would reach $1,000,000, and might go as high as $1,500,000.

Raine, in his cell in the county jail with a bottle of fine Kentucky whiskey, bowl of sugar and a few lemons, refuses to discuss the embezzlement, but insists he will make no defense to the charge. Raine has refused to accept legal counsel, although his friends have sent several attorneys to him.

A great portion of the funds which have disappeared were in savings accounts and the losers consist principally of factory workers, clerks and persons working on weekly or monthly pay.

Did Not Own Fine Home He Lived In. It has developed that Raine, who lived in a fine home in the suburbs of Memphis, did not own the property. It belonged to his wife, who died six years ago, leaving it to a married sister, Raine retaining only a life interest.

Since admitting the charge of embezzlement yesterday and going to jail, Raine steadfastly has insisted that he alone is responsible for the conditions which wrecked the institutions.

As the result of his arrest, Raine and his brother, Gilbert D. Raine, publisher of the Memphis News-Scholar, who had been estranged for a number of years, have renewed their friendship.

Both went yesterday as they agreed to forget past differences.

Danker Raine is president of the Chickasaw Club, one of the exclusive clubs of Memphis.

Claude Anderson, cashier of the bank, said today that the institution was managed in exact accord with Raine's orders, and that all the employees of the institution obeyed instructions implicitly.

Raine's speculations in cotton, it was announced, were handled through Hubbard & Co. of New York, a cotton brokerage firm. Loans, it was stated, were made through the American Exchange Bank of New York, and it was an investigation resulting from suspicion aroused in that bank which resulted in the discovery of the defalcation.

Personal checks given by Raine, for which he had received cash from the bank, but which were carried as cash items, in the total cash on hand amounted to $410,000.00.

Only $52,000 Cash on Hand. The books show actual cash on hand at the close of business Saturday amounting to $52,000.00. The actual money in the bank, exclusive of checks and sight exchange, was only about $52,000. However, there is $142,000 in the form of checks for clearing that is virtually the same as cash.

Raine told friends he had been speculating for at least two years, sometimes with success and sometimes losing money. After he had lost all his own money he began using the money of the bank.

He would draw a check, have the cashier of the bank cash it, and direct him to carry the check as cash, explaining that he was operating for wealthy men in New York, who would honor his draft at any time.

When the cashier would call for cash, he would draw a draft on some cotton man in New York, payable at the American Exchange National Bank of that city, that bank being the New York correspondent of the Mercantile Bank. His personal check then would be returned to him and would be destroyed.

Held Drafts Out of Mail. The cashier supposed that Raine sent the draft to New York and charged the New York bank up with that amount on the books of the Mercantile Bank.

Raine stated, however, that he held the drafts out of the mail and that he later reported to his cashier that he had received a statement from the New York bank that the draft had been paid. The Mercantile Bank's books, therefore, showed that the bank had a credit in New York, which was, in fact, fictitious.

On Wednesday, Feb. 11, the 550 members of the crew of the Frederick W. Vanderbilt's yacht Warrior, stranded on a reef off the coast of Colombia, still are aboard the vessel, according to a wireless received here last night. Thirty-eight of the crew were transferred to the United Fruit steamer Metapan.

Next St. Louis Firemen's Ball. The second annual ball of the St. Louis Firemen's Protective Association will be held in Donahue's Hall, Tenth street and Gay avenue, Saturday night, Feb. 14.

Mayor Chamberlain will lead the grand march.

Phone Girl Who Saved Friend When Her Clothing Took Fire

MARIE NEWHOUSE.

Slayer Says He's Admiral's Son. OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 10.—Avenard Nyayilt, slayer of Marie Prandlin, under sentence of life imprisonment, declares he is the son of Vice-Admiral Nyayilt of the French Navy. Until his father discovered his relations with the Prandlin women, Nyayilt, it is said, received a remittance of $400 a month.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that reaches the publishers news gathered by the Associated Press.

GRATE SETS FIRE TO GIRL'S KIMONA; FRIEND SAVES HER

Miss Rose Zabel, 19, Puts Out Flames Imperiling Life of Telephone Operator.

Marie Newhouse, 18 years old, a telephone operator, is under treatment at her home, 147 East Prairie avenue, for severe burns she received Sunday night when a silk kimona she was wearing caught fire from an open grate.

Miss Newhouse probably would have received fatal injuries if it had not been for the quick work of Miss Rose Zabel, 19 years old, of 691 La Salle street, another telephone operator, who was visiting her.

Miss Helen Newhouse, a sister of the injured girl, who is also a telephone girl, was on duty at the central exchange when Miss Zabel called Dr. Henry Rohlfing of 3665 Humphrey street and recognized Miss Zabel's voice. Perceiving from her agitated tones that something was wrong she listened and heard Miss Zabel telling the doctor what had happened. She was greatly affected but controlled her agitation and kept at her work until she could be relieved by a substitute operator.

Marie Newhouse was reaching for something on the mantel when she approached too near the fire. The kimona caught fire and the flames leaped up about her. Her screams brought Miss Zabel from another room and she tore the flaming clothing from Miss Newhouse, who was, however, severely burned about the legs and back.

As soon as Miss Helen Newhouse's work was over she hurried home and was relieved to find that her sister was not fatally injured.

Mayor Mitchell Seeks Helpers. NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Following the conference by Mayor Mitchell and four of his newly appointed heads of departments it was decided yesterday to establish a central employment exchange to relieve the distress of men out of work. Henry Bruera, City Chamberlain, sent representatives to employment agencies to ask them to co-operate.

WOMEN CABARET PERFORMERS TO BE ALLOWED IN CAFES

Excise Commissioner to Allow Entertainment if It Is Conducted in Orderly Manner.

Excise Commissioner Anderson announced Tuesday that he had cited John J. Turner, John Harrigan Jr. and John W. Schappner, proprietors of Hofbrau Cafe, 217 North Tenth street, and Herman Mach, president of Cambridge Coffee Catering Co., to appear before him Monday to answer charges of conducting disorderly resorts. If the charges are not proved false, the Commissioner declared, he has decided to annul the licenses of both cafes.

According to reports filed in the Excise Commissioner's office, he announced, both cafes have been and are still being operated in violation of law by the proprietors allowing women of questionable character to frequent the two cafes.

The reports also set forth that women without escorts are served drinks without meals and permitted to become intoxicated.

Application has been made to the Excise Commissioner by McTague's and Melshelmer's cafes and a number of hotels for permission to employ high-class women cabaret performers.

Commissioner Anderson told a reporter that he had decided to grant the application on condition the cabarets were orderly.

"I am willing to tolerate it if it is conducted in an orderly manner, but not otherwise," he declared.

STOLEN GOODS SEIZED

Sheriff Takes Wagon Load of Chattels From Negro's Home. Sheriff John H. Dierker of St. Charles County, Saturday seized a wagon load of goods found in the rear of the home of Louis Curry, a negro, living at Morgan street and King's highway, St. Charles, which is said to have been stolen from freight cars in the railroad yards. A trunk of shoes, a shotgun, watches and other valuables were found at the negro's place. They were removed to the courthouse.

MAN GIVES WIFE TO RIVAL; JOINS NAVY TO FORGET

Sterling (Ill.) Citizen Gets Divorce and Departs When Woman Says She Loves Another.

STERLING, Ill., Feb. 10.—Charles Applegreen Monday voluntarily freed his wife so that she might marry another man, forgave the rival who had won her from him and started for San Francisco to forget the past, while cruising with the navy.

Recently Applegreen declared that his wife's affections had been transferred to another. He talked the situation over with her, and she told him she would not be happy without the new object of her love. Applegreen decided, that as he had promised to make his wife happy the best thing to do was to give her to the other man.

"An' what's more," I says, "youse'll notice the next day after the meetin' they wasn't no need to be sweepin' up hair pins an' false curls or openin' the pertholes." I says, "to be lettin' out the small o' person like when a couple o' them fleshy frien' o' yours ever drops in fer ter swap paper patterns," I says.

"Well, o' course I didn't tink much more about it, havin' plenty on me mind, business bein' the rushin'est I ever seen it." An' then wan day in comes a guy an' says ter me:

"Tell Mr. Hadley," he says, "th' genman is here fer to see about puttin' up that partition into his office," he says. "What partition?" I says. "Fer to make room fer his pardner or sumpin'." he says. "G'wan!" I says. "Me Boss ain't got no pardner," I says. "He runs this graf alone an' ain't spittin' wid nobody," I says. "Well," the gink says, "mebbe it's gettin' so big he can't handle it all alone an' needs help," he says. "All this time th' only t'ing botherin' me is who's the gink th' Boss is gointer take in fer pardner, an' to save me I couldn't tink o' nobody. But when I goes out inter Ethel's room, she's settin' back in her chair lookin' at me like I was sumpin' in a cage."

"Ho-ho," she says, "yer a deep wan, Mr. Doody, fer I s-pose I'll have ter be that from now on, though Gawd knows every time I call it youse twill be like tryin' ter tango wid tight shoes on," she says; "but what kin a poor workin' gal do, now yer th' Boss's pardner?"

"Well, o' course I seen it all now, an' I had ter admit th' Boss fer the caggy way he was doin' it. Goin' ter surprise me, huh? Fine chanst, now I was onto his game! But I wouldn't leave Ethel know she'd gave me the first up, yout better, so I says:

"Oh, well, me good woman," I says, "now yer wise, say nothin'." I says. "It's a secret yet an' we don't want it gettin' all round," I says. "An' now," I says, grabbin' me kelly, "if youse'll kindly watch th' office awhties I'll be runnin' down an' transactin' a little business," I says. "An' if me pardner takes where I am tell him I'll be back short," I says, an' ducks.

"I wasn't goin' out jus' fer to get th' air, elder, bein' wise to wan t'ing, annyhow. I knowed the minnut the news got out about me bein' took inter the firm every office kid into the buildin' would be after me old job, an' fer cert'n reasons I wanted me old frien' Izzy Katz fer to be gettin' it, so I nalls him an' handed him the news."

Izzy wanted to know when he'd report, but I couldn't exactly tell him, on'y puttin' him wise to be ready to jump anny minnut.

Well, from then on fer the next day the little mutt was buttin' in our dump s' times an hour, wantin' to know would he start work yet, an' when he'd meet me in the elevator or annywhere it was "Mr. Doody," till all the other guys got it, too. But I kep' me trap looked an' never said nuthin' to nobody, but me mudder. I had ter tell her because she had all the money an' I wanted to be buyin' a stiff hat instead o' the old kelly I could roll up an' stuff in me kelly.

You better I had ter stand fer some raggin' when I wears it down nex' mornin', but I says to mudder when Joe the bootblack an' Paddy the starter an'

some o' them hands me the laff. Upstairs onto our floor there's me frien' Izzy waitin' fer me wid a bundle did up in a newspaper.

"Don't quarrel," I says. "Tis not seemly into employes," I says, dignified like. "An' whistest I'm waitin' fer me pardner," I says, "I tink I'll be p'roosin' the mornin' paper in our printin' office. Run down to the seegar stand, me lad," I says to Izzy, "an' buy me a bunch o' cigarettes," I says.

So I sneaks inside, takin' the littlest o' the two caves the Boss'd had fixed up, an' pretty soon Izzy comes back wid the smokes. I lights wan, an' what do the fresh little sparrer do but do the same. "G'wan outer here," I says. "Whaffer?" he says. "Whaffer?" I says. "Are it the rules fer th' office boy to be settin' in wid his Boss, smokin' cig'ettes?" I says. "Aw, yer gittin' stuck up Shrimpy," he says an' blows the smoke in me face. That settles it fer him.

"Ter fired," I says. "Out!" An' when he gimme the laff I starts to bounce him.

An' jus' then the door opens an' in comes the Boss wid his kid brudder, Harry, the wan jus' outer collidge.

"Here," he says, "What's the meanin' o' this—me own office boy an' anudder in me pardner's office, smokin' cigarettes?" Harry, he says, "It's a fine interdiction fer youse, but come on," he says, "leave us have it over wid," an' him grabbin' me an' Harry grabbin' Izzy, out we goes widout time fer no raincocks.

Izzy didn't wait fer nuthin' but was out the door in wan jump, but I set there wonderin' what had happened, when I catches Ethel's eye.

"Good mornin', Mr. Doody," she says. "Diden' youse like the new office or whatt'?"

"Was all yer fault," I says. "But I'll get youse yet!" "Say nothin'," she says, "an' the lunches is onto me," she says, "an' the funny joke!" she says.

"So?" I says. "I wonder who's goin' ter stand fer the dollar I give up fer me door—that's what I wonder!" I says. "Change it to me," she says. "Twas well wort' it to see youse come outer that door!"

To Put On Flesh and Increase Weight

A Physician's Advice

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of food, solid, fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bosh to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all.

Thin folk stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffed with food, they do not assimilate it. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay-where" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just pass by the by, leaving until they pass from the body as waste.

Something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply the blood-carrying power, and increase the capacity of the blood to absorb and deposit a large tablet with every meal.

Parlsian Sage is a scientific compound of the best elements of nature and powerful flesh-building elements known to the world. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective, and a single tablet eaten each meal will result in the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman.

Parlsian Sage is sold by Judge Delph, 111 West 42nd St., New York City; Dr. C. O. Johnson, 1000 Broadway, New York City; and other good druggists everywhere. It is a positive guarantee of weight increase of money back—ADV.

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TO-NIGHT BY MRS. FAWCETT

THE MILK WHITE HORSE.

ONE night as the last stroke of 12 sounded a beautiful white horse dashed along a road without a driver. His bridle was of gilded leather, set with jewels, and over his back was a saddle of red velvet, trimmed with gold. He stopped under a tree and looked around, as though he expected someone.

The tree spread out its branches and lay back and forth, and then disappeared, and in its place stood a Prince. He wore a black velvet suit and a long, black feather in his cap, reaching to his shoulder. He patted the horse and sprang to the saddle, and the horse trotted along the road till he came to the edge of a steep hill. Here he stopped and lifted his forefeet, which had laid until then close to his sides. Up flew the horse and rider, across a valley to a mountain.

The mountain was snow white and very steep, and on the top was a house. Now, the Prince was an enchanted Prince and had been told by the fairies to rescue a princess who was held a prisoner in this house by three monsters who had stolen her from her father and mother. The Prince had tried to reach the top of this mountain, but it was so rugged and steep that he told the fairies the only way he could reach the Princess would be to fly to her. So they sent the milk white horse to carry him. When they were near the top of the mountain the horse alighted, and the Prince dismounted and patted him and then tied him to a tree.

In one of the rooms in the house on the top of the mountain the Princess was sitting at a table, waiting for her rescuer. She was a beautiful girl, with long, dark hair, and she was looking out of the window, where she could see the horse and rider, and she was saying to herself, "How long will it take him to come?"

She was so surprised to hear the horse neigh that she could not answer for a moment. Then she said, "I am not going on any journey. I am a prisoner here in the house of the three monsters. Have you seen them?"

"Oh, yes," replied the horse, "but I am not afraid. I am so small, they could not catch me. But you eat, for I am going to take you home," and he jumped to the floor. "Turn your head," he said. The Princess obeyed. "Now look at me," and when she looked the Prince stood before her. "It had to be small," he said, "to get in here and find you, and now that you know I am able to take care of you I must be a mouse again." And in an instant he was running over the table.

It was dark by this time, and the moon was all the light they had. "Be at the window at 12 o'clock tonight," said the mouse, "and I will be there and take you away with me," and as he said this he ran under the door.

As the last stroke of 12 sounded there was a bright flash and the bars of the window fell away, and there was the Prince on the milk white horse. He lifted the Princess to the saddle in front of him. But the monsters saw him and rushed toward them, looking very ugly. The Prince spread out his arms, and a was a bright flash and the ears of the monsters as he said:

"Magic art, now turn to stone."

"These grim monsters and their home," the ground heaved and trembled, and the milk white horse spread his wings and rose above it. The Little Princess looked down, and in the place of the mountain and the house were three peaked mountains.

The Prince had changed the monsters into rocks, so they never again will make anyone unhappy. The father and mother of the Little Princess were so glad to have her back that they asked the Prince to live with them and marry the Princess. And they all lived in the castle, a happy family.

APPLICATION.

TURN on a faucet to the merest dribble, put a cake of soap under it where the trickle will hit it squarely in the center, and then sit back and watch.

It's a puny little stream, as streams go, but pretty soon you'll see it eating a hole into the heart of the soap—a hole that grows deeper and bigger as the minutes wear on.

Get up and turn off the faucet. The boring stops. Turn it on again. The boring continues.

This is a little lesson in the power of application.

All that stands between you and success is but soap, if the persistent little trickle of water, you keep constantly boring through it. Ceaseless application to the job does the business. When you turn off the stream the boring stops. Keep it turned on.

Heat only half applied in intermittent waves only half bakes the loaf. Applying yourself only half-heartedly in wavering intervals to your job only half does your work. Success never reaches down to the "half-way" point. Half application means only half success—no more.

Whether your work is copying letters or giving orders, only by applying yourself to it until there is nothing about it that you do not know—that you have not mastered down to the smallest detail—can you say "I am 100 per cent efficient."

What is your percentage of efficiency? Apply yourself to your work and find out.

Applying This Paste Makes Hairs Vanish (Tollit Tips)

The popularity of the delatene treatment for removing hairy growths is due largely to the fact that it is quick in action and does not mar the skin, and since its introduction many beauty parlors use it in preference to the electrolytic method. To remove the hair of face you only use powdered delatene with little water and apply to the objectionable hairs, then in a minute rub off with the skin and the hairs have entirely vanished. Excepting in rare instances, one treatment is sufficient. ADV.

The Jarr Family

Written for the Post-Dispatch
By ROY L. MCGARRELL

"I HEAR Ed Jarr's wife has left him," said Muller, the grocer, coming into Gus's, ostensibly to impart this information.

"By golly!" said Gus. "You never can tell who'll go next. I mean whose wife will go next. There is my wife Lena, she leaves me every week. And sometimes she stays in Hoboken at my relations' over night."

"It's relations what does it?" remarked Mr. Slavinsky, the glass-putin man. "In my family I got a brother-in-law, what his wife can't stand him and throws him out of the house, and he comes over mit me here and cries mit my wife what a feller I am because I don't want to have him around. And my wife says to me, 'If you have such a wife as Lena, I'd like to see you stay home either.'"

"Your own brother will go back on you," said Gus, gloomily. "When my wife Lena goes home to HER people they throw her out, but when she goes home to MY people they make a regular wall of her."

"It's a wonder she don't stay with them long, then," said Muller.

"Ha! That's because my wife Lena is got an intelligent brain," declared Gus proudly. "She comes home to me and says: 'Yes, you big loaf! And what is it your people are trying to do? Why, to push us apart. That's so your brother's wife can come over here and have my furniture mit my brass bed and the box springs and my rag plush, parlor set what I don't let nobody sit on.'"

"What can we do about it? I mean about Ed Jarr?" asked Slavinsky.

"What's the best way if you meet a feller after his wife leaves him?" Mr. Slavinsky had a kind heart and was strong for the domestic ties.

John W. Rangle, who had come in at this point, sensed the context of the subject under discussion.

"You don't need to say a word," he remarked. "You'll be told by the party of either the first or second part every time you meet them. If you don't know 'Who's who in America'—that is, who separated and what separated them—all you have to do is to say: 'How's your wife?' or 'How's your husband?' as the case may be. Then a deep, pained look will cross the countenance of the near-bereft, and he, or she, will say 'Haven't you heard? Ah, but I never speak of it! Let the world misjudge me if it will, but my lips are sealed. I shall never mention that name again!' I will NEVER tell my side of the story! Let us drop the subject forever, please!" Then they'll back you into a corner and tell all they endured for years, all the injustice they suffered; then, finally, after it was more than flesh and blood could endure—and just then perhaps the party of the other part will pass. The two will fly into each other's arms and go off together to tell all whom they meet that it was listening to such as you that caused "The little rift within the lute that, slowly widening, made the music mute," as Tennyson says.

"I don't know the party!" snapped Gus. "Furthermore, what has playing a flute to do mit it? Ed Jarr couldn't play a pinolograph by turning the handle."

"Well, anyway," said Mr. Slavinsky, "I think somebody ought to go and square it. Ed Jarr's a feller I know for 10 years. Maybe he plays a little penuche, maybe he stays out late sometimes, maybe he tries to be boss in his own house once in a while and finds it ain't plausible."

"Possible," suggested Mr. Rangle.

"I said a word I'm acquainted with before I knew you!" began Mr. Slavinsky. "I was going to tell you, Gertrude, what is a young lady I know, told me they been visiting out West in Kansas somewhere!"

"I'm Falling in Love With Someone"

THE DAY'S GOOD STORIES

Foolish Questions.
DID you ever stop to examine an ash can? If not, go out and look one over before you read the rest of this short but entirely truthful tale. You will find that an ash can is a large, round thing, absolutely cumbersome and utterly unable to have itself wrapped up by a parcel boy, says the Washington Star.

However, it fell to my lot to make a purchase of a trio of ash cans, three nice round ones, which could sit out in the cold full of ashes, and wonder why all the rest of the world had its cans exposed. I went to a department store, and there a girl with chewing gum who sells lace Monday, washboards Tuesday, candy Wednesday, books Thursday, asked me if I wished to buy anything.

"Yes, I want three ash cans," I said.

"Ash cans. Step this way, please. There they are. Will you have them sent?"

"No," I replied to this amazing inquiry. "Wrap them up and I will take them under my arm."

"Oh, is that so?" replied the gum chewer. "I certainly do hate a fresh guy!"

Hand Geography.
THE geography class was in session and the teacher pointed a finger to the map on the classroom wall.

"Here, on one hand, we have the far-stretching country of Russia, Willie," she asked, looking over her pupils and settling on the small boy at the end of the class. "What do we see on the other hand?"

Willie, hopeless with fright, hesitated a moment and then answered:

"Warts!"

No Regrets.
YES," said the retired insurance agent, "I once induced a man to take out a $50,000 life insurance policy, and the very day after he got the policy he dropped dead."

"I expect you wished your persuasive powers had not been so successful!"

"Well, hardly. You see, I married the widow."

Explaining the Noise.
THE distracted mother hastened to the nursery and said to her little daughter:

"Minnie, what do you mean by shouting and screaming? Play quietly, like Tommy. See, he doesn't make a sound."

"Of course he doesn't," said the little girl. "That is our game. He is papa coming home late and I am you."

Rather Noisy.
MRS. MARSDEN'S only recommendation to society was the great wealth left her by an uncle.

"I attended the new theater last evening," she announced to a member of the smart set whom she happened to meet one morning.

"Indeed," said the social leader. "How are the acoustics of that theater?"

"The what?" queried Mrs. Marsden.

"The acoustic properties," replied the other woman.

"Oh, yes," said Mrs. Marsden quickly. "The acoustic properties. Why, do you know, it struck me they were rather gaudy."—Harper's Weekly.

Rubbing It In.
WELL, did he pay you?" asked the wife of a dentist who had been to collect a bill for a full set of false teeth that he had made for a man almost a year before.

"Pay me?" growled the dentist. "Not only did he refuse to pay me, but he actually had the effrontery to gnash at me—with my teeth!"

Nut Sed.
WHY don't you advertise your business?"

"I do. I tell it to my wife."

Just Hungry.
I'VE tried all kinds of health foods, but none of them seem to fit my case."

"What is it you are troubled with?"

"An appetite."

No Danger.
I AM my own worst enemy."

"Then you have nothing to fear."

The Tale of a Cow.
A sketch exhibition held by a body of artists of the milder growth the worst picture of an uncommonly poor lot was a travesty of a massive cow rummaging in a blue atmosphere and in the presence of a large lemon-yellow moon. This picture had a neat lavender tag suspended under it on which was written "Nocturne $10."

Two evasive artists of an opposing organization, seeing the picture, marveled at the unique incompetence of it. They decided that so admirable an example of the worst possible was too dirt cheap at the price, and one of them waggishly faked the tag so that it read "Nocturne $1000," making the contemplative cow the most expensive animal in the show.

Then they went about advertising their great joke, and there was much private angering over the pretty conceit, until presently the jesters discovered a rag tag on the "Nocturne." A plump brewer had written out his check for $100. Nothing would do for him but the best, he said.

Like a man suffering from a stiff neck or an Eiffel Tower collar, the sitter tilted his head gingerly till it reached the desired angle, and he resembled a dying fish trying not to mind.

"That's very nice; very nice, indeed," said the photographer. "Stay just there while I make the exposure." He removed the cap as he spoke and counted out a minute and three-quarters. "Thank you," he observed. "You can get up your hat."
